30 wind farms and counting...wind is the fastest growing niche in our energy practice. Wind soars along with the solar, biomass, landfill gas and other energy projects we've worked on over the years.

The Winthrop & Weinstine, P.A., team of wind energy development professionals brings to our clients an extensive combination of development experience and attention to client service that is unsurpassed.

Our understanding of the development and life of a wind project and our experience in the renewable energy industry make us well suited to achieve the goals and needs of our clients, and the energy our team brings to each project helps us contribute to our clients' successes.

A firm difference.®
